Project location	Serbia, Belgrade, Municipality of Čukarica
Total cost of the project	14.800,00€	Amount requested from the Donor	10.000,00€	Co-finance	4.800,00€
Project duration	1 year
Project Category	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Supporting local partnerships ▪ Creating opportunities for youth ▪ Roma inclusion

Project summary

Roma population is in a position of multiple and multidimensional social exclusion. Active measures and assistance programs for Roma, dealing mainly with remedying the consequences of the problem, do not lead to a sustainable improvement in their lives.

Project Activism and networking for Roma inclusion will contribute to the participation of Roma in political and social life as a prerequisite for their social inclusion. Project is aimed at strengthening the capacity of young people, especially from the Roma population for social and political activation.

By putting community resources into the function of inclusion of the Roma population in the territory of the municipality of Čukarica, project will serve as a networking platform to connect public service, needs of vulnerable groups and civic engagement in a form of a development tool and activity.

Project Title	Economic empowerment of women from vulnerable groups in Čukarica

Project Category	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Supporting local partnerships ▪ New employment opportunities ▪ Social Entrepreneurship

Project summary

Gender equality in the sphere of economy is to a great extent the precondition for achieving gender equality in the society, and for full implementation of the established normative and institutional framework. Economic empowerment of women represents the most complex and difficult area for intervention. Particularly disadvantaged is the situation of women from rural areas of Čukarica who are isolated due to the distance from the centre, lower education and poor information.

Project partners are City Municipality of Čukarica and Association of Citizens BIO IDEA. BIO IDEA, the Social Franchise Project started in 2015 is a sustainable business model designed for vulnerable groups of women at risk of social exclusion and poverty. Within the social franchise network for the production of eco-soaps(eco-products), knowledge transfer and know-how are enabled, a joint appearance on the market with a recognizable brand, and franchise members of the diversity are solid and unique.

The concept relies on many years of efforts, as well as knowledge and experiences, professionals who have dealt with this topic through research or practice. The concept is innovative because it seeks to unite in a creative, educational way, as many people and institutions have the same aspiration: to enable the survival of social entrepreneurs who bravely stepped into the entrepreneurial zone.

Project summary

Education as the most important channel for social mobility largely remains unreachable for Roma, especially for Roma women. The project is designed as a response to the numerous challenges faced by young people from the Roma population in the education system, or who need to be positioned competitively on the labour market.

By realizing the project, local self-government will contribute to the goals of public policy in the field of human resource development, greater employability and social inclusion of the Roma population. By supporting the dissemination of career guidance and counselling services outside public sector institutions, these services will be available to potential beneficiaries outside the formal education system.

Project is aimed at establishing a Career Guidance and Counselling Centre as a mechanism to support people from marginalized groups. Another aspect is necessary raising of employability and economic empowerment of young Roma and Roma women aged 15-24 from the territory of the municipality of Čukarica.

Project will be implemented by Municipality of Cukarica and Centre for Quality Education during 12 months implementation period.

Project summary

Centre for social work of Kovačica municipality (CSW) is responsible for children without parents. All decisions about custody are made by CSW. There is a problem when these children turn 18 and become adults by the law. Then they must leave their foster family. Often these persons are still students and don't have employment. Persons between 18 to 26 years of age are at risk because they leave institutional care and they often don't have family or other support network, many of them stay on streets and are exploited.

House halfway is social care service, which targets decreasing of social isolation and endangered of youth without parents and with behavior problems after treatment in social care institutions, improvement of quality of their life, developing new social care services, as well developing citizen solidarity to children without parents and with behavior disabilities.

Expected result is to build house for accommodation of young adults who leave foster families, until their independence. Service House halfway will offer structural activities which enable independence, development and maintenance of social, cognitive and physical functions of users.

Purpose is to teach users how to fulfill their needs in environment where they live.

Project Category	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Equipping of Institutions/Social Service providing Association ▪ Improving Social Service Delivery

Project summary

Number of children from families living in bad economic conditions on the territory of the municipality of Kovačica is increasing, so is the number of beneficiaries of prolonged stay in schools in Kovačica. Primary schools "Sava Žebeljan" in Crepaja, "Mlada pokolenja" in Kovačica and "Sveti Georgije" in Uzdin provide services for vulnerable children.

Mentioned institutions are in very bad condition due to worn out equipment, lack of funds for more frequent maintenance of the walls in the area where food services are provided and rising needs for providing these services. In kitchens, meals are provided in two shifts every working day, which is why it is very important that these spaces are high quality and safe for both children and all employees. Due to deterioration of space and equipment, there is a risk to the health of children and other employees in school.

Project is aimed at improving the quality of the kitchen operation through harmonization in provision of services and improvement of the hygienic sanitary measures.

Project Category	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Investment in social infrastructure (minor interventions) ▪ Equipping of Institutions/Social Service providing Association ▪ Improving Social Service Delivery

Project summary

The Centre for Social Work Apatin provides accommodation for 34 adult users without family care and support, refugees and internally displaced persons and other materially endangered families who cannot independently provide housing.

This is provided through the service "Social Housing in Protected Conditions". Problems faced by the target group, i.e. users of the SHPC service and Centre for Social Work Apatin, are high electricity cost and safety risks, among others. By obtaining funds for the introduction of central heating in the "Social Housing in Protected Conditions" facility, above mentioned problems will be solved, and risks eliminated.

Target groups i.e. persons accommodated in the building are former residents of collective centers for refugees and internally displaced persons where they lived in often very poor living conditions for many years before becoming resident of the SHPC service and facilities.

Improved conditions now will substantially contribute to more dignified living of the beneficiaries.

Project summary

Inclusion of children in quality programs in the framework of preschool education is very important for their cognitive, motor, spoken language and socio-emotional development, readiness for school and achievements in later education and life.

The target group on this project is employees in pre-school / educators, management, professional associates; representatives of relevant service providers of importance for inclusion / health, basic education social protection, representatives of decision makers / local self-governments and NGOs. Final beneficiaries of the project are parents and children from vulnerable groups, as well as all children of pre-school age.

When we talk about children from vulnerable groups, we mean children with disabilities, children from socio-economically endangered families, children without parental care and other children who, by improving the inclusion and integration, should be able to enjoy full and quality living in conditions that ensure dignity, enhance self-confidence and facilitate its active participation in the community.

Within 12 months of the project duration, we want to enable the inclusion of every child in the peer group and activities and meet specific needs in acquiring knowledge through the purchase of appliances, tools and instruments that will enable children to easily, faster and better acquire new skills and knowledge.

Project summary

The entire Roma population in Beočin municipality, which, according to the 2011 census, has 1422 inhabitants, is living in one part of Beočin. Most of the Roma settlements are consisted of workers' colonies built for the needs of the workers of the Beočin cement factory. In these workers' colonies, as well as in the rest of the settlements with Roma inhabitants, there is not a single playground for children.

Construction works and installation of children's playgrounds are in the focus of the project.

The realization of this project will have positive influence on the reduction of the difference in housing and overall living situation and conditions in Roma and non-Roma settlements.

Project duration	8 months
Project Category	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Improving Social Service Delivery ▪ Capacity Building of Social Service Providers ▪ New employment opportunities

Project summary

Proposed project lasting for 8 months is targeting following fields: improving social service delivery, capacity building of social service providers and new employment opportunities.

According to the latest Population Census, 2,390 people over 65 years old are living in the municipality of Beocin, 16% of the total population. Most of them are people with chronic illnesses who need help in everyday activities such as: purchasing and preparing food, heating the house, maintaining personal hygiene, laundry and housekeeping, help with medical visits, purchasing and taking medicine, paying bills, etc. About 60% of the elderly needing help in the home are poor and do not have family support and therefore live in isolation, in messy and uninhabited homes, without cooked food and inadequate health care. At the same time, there is currently no institution nor service provider dealing with the elderly in the municipality and can provide them with the necessary assistance, medical or some of the services related to household maintenance, or there is no established home help service.

The main objective of the project is to contribute to the improvement of the living situation of various vulnerable groups in Beocin by providing assistance in the home to the most vulnerable elderly who need the help of another person in carrying out daily activities.

Home assistance services will be provided by unemployed Roma women, social assistance beneficiaries, and who have received a certificate for specific service delivery.

Project Category	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Investment in social infrastructure (minor interventions) ▪ Equipping of Institutions/Social Service providing Association ▪ Piloting and Promoting new/innovative Social Services

The project refers to the field of social protection, more specifically protection of children and youth with disabilities and behavioral disorders. Target group are children aged 12 to 18 years, from the records of the Center for Social Welfare in the municipality of Čoka. Children from target group are coming from all vulnerable groups, that is, children who, due to the manifestation of various forms of social, family and personal dysfunctionality, are treated through the social protection system.

The project idea is based on re-establishing the work of the club for children and youth by the "model Grig" (application of the method of socio-therapy work), which was originally formed in 2011. The club's work has achieved excellent results in the period of functioning of the club, which led to a large drop in the number of juvenile offenders, as well as minors with asocial behavior.

The lack of funds for continuing to provide the same service to children and young people resulted in an increase in the number of registered children with asocial behavior in the Center, as well as an increase in the number of reported violence, which indicates the need to re-establish and introduce activities at the local level.

The overall objective of the project is to promote social integration of children and youth in the territory of the municipality of Čoka.

The specific objective of this 12 months long project is to provide support for independent living and active participation of young people in society through the establishment of a club for children and youth in Čoka.

Project summary

Project is focused on empowerment of women and promotion of women's rights, with special focus on women in rural areas.

In Serbian society, and especially in rural areas, the patriarchal model of family life is deeply rooted, which is reflected in unequal positions, roles, responsibilities, unequal access to resources and distribution of those. The socio-economic situation in our society imposes this division of roles, reduced tolerance of abuse of power by men. The project will contribute to improving the position of women in the rural environment; they will gain wider perspective from and be empowered to take more active role in society.

The overall objective of the project is to promote gender equality in rural areas through cooperation with local self-government and the civil sector. Project specifically contributes to the promotion of gender equality and the position of women in Čoka.

The idea of the project is to organize and implement six one-day trips for women, three workshops for education of decoupage techniques, two meetings with a psychologist, one with a gynecologist, a doctor, a lawyer and women who lead a small economy and engaged in occupations that are not so represented by women. Within this 12-month long project, medical and gynecological examinations for women will be organized.

Project summary

Project is focused on promoting new and innovative social services on local level in cooperation with Centre for social welfare Bač.

Municipality of Bač is undeveloped municipality (between 60%-80% compared with national average). Also, The Municipality of Bač has high degree of unemployment persons (40%), and 756 users of social financial assistance. Also, in accordance with last census 510 people with disabilities live in municipality of Bač.

Due to the large percentage of elderly households (48%) the municipality already recognized the need for provision of innovative social services that will improve quality of life most vulnerable categories of population.

Since the Municipality of Bač has already established a home assistance service for elderly and persons with disabilities and equipped laundry from previous project, the proposed project will be a step forward towards the spread of social services to a wider population as well as step forward in improving the quality and sustainability of social services at the local level.

The proposed project wants to respond to the needs of vulnerable categories of the population through meeting their basic living needs in carrying out everyday activities. The project will contribute to reducing the degree of vulnerability of marginalized categories of population, with focus on elderly and persons with disabilities, reducing their social exclusion and poverty.

Project summary

Based on previous analyzes of the Association "Altruist", the most frequent problems of disabled young people, adults and their families in Žabalj are poverty, unemployment, prejudices and stereotypes, poor quality of leisure time and social isolation, lack of funds, etc.

This project would support the implementation of national policies and the establishment of strategic changes in the field of the protection of vulnerable social groups.

The specific objective of the project contributes to improving the quality of life and better integration of two vulnerable target groups (young and adult adults with physical and mental disabilities aged 15 and over) through the establishment and improvement of efficient services.

By realizing the project, CSO Altruist will establish daily community services (living room) for young people and adults with disabilities in the municipality of Žabalj.

Project summary

Implementation of the project will be carried out in three stages. First is organizing workshops in schools for the purpose of preventive action in the field of peer violence. Besides this, collection of data on victims of violence and creation of a social map of vulnerable groups will be of significant importance for future activities aimed at prevention of violence and providing help to vulnerable groups.

In order to ensure an adequate political and social environment in the systemic fight against violence, it is necessary to raise public awareness through the promotion of nonviolent behavior, and publicly talk about topics such as gender equality and anti-discrimination.

The project focuses on primary prevention in order to change existing social patterns that create the circumstances and conditions in which violence is adopted as a model of behavior, which provides a favorable environment for its occurrence and is manifested where there is no social conviction.

Project summary

The project is aimed at development of social protection services at the local level through the continuous strengthening of the capacity of service providers and improvement and extension of the territorial coverage of daily services in the community - Domestic assistance in the territory of the municipality of Kosjerić for a period of one year.

Despite the progress made to decentralize social protection in the past decade — including major reforms in the work of social welfare centers, development of regulatory framework and transformation of institutions for permanent accommodation — the range of services in the community is still not sufficiently developed to be able to adequately respond to a wide range of needs of vulnerable groups.

Support is needed within the implementation of the system of licensing, but support is also necessary for the development of standards for new social services.

Project summary

In the municipality of Negotin, there are persons with disabilities who live alone and they are not capable of doing shopping, cooking or washing by themselves. Most of them are people with low income, since they are not able to work and improve their material status.

Due to lack of funds in the local self-government, there is no service provider for this type of service in the municipality, although there are obvious real need for this type of service.

The project will provide educational trainings for 15 people who are unemployed and willing to work as personal assistants to people with disabilities. They will afterwards become licensed personal assistants and provide this service on the territory of municipality.
